Madison County Town Justice Resigns, Ending Inquiry into Misconduct Allegations

The New York State Commission on Judicial Conduct has completed formal proceedings against James P. Roman, a Justice of the Sullivan Town Court, Madison County. Pursuant to a stipulation dated May 28, 2013, Judge Roman, who resigned by letter dated May 22, 2013, agreed to vacate judicial office effective July 3, 2013, and agreed not to seek or accept judicial office in the future. On that basis, the proceedings were discontinued and the matter was closed on June 6, 2013.

Under the terms of the stipulation, Judge Roman, who is an attorney, waived the statutory provision of confidentiality applicable to Commission proceedings, to the limited extent that the stipulation and Commission decision and order would be made public. Judge Roman has served as a Justice of the Sullivan Town Court since 1998.

The judge was served with a Formal Written Complaint dated August 7, 2012, alleging that he engaged in misconduct when he publicly and physically confronted a fifteen-year-old boy who was riding his bicycle in his neighborhood, yelled profanities at the boy, took unauthorized possession of, and damaged the boy's bicycle, and recommended to a local landlord that he evict a neighborhood family because of their relationship with the boy.

Judge Roman filed an answer dated October 30, 2012, in which he admitted in part and denied in part the allegations charged against him.

The stipulation and the Commission's order closing the case can be found on the Commission's website: www.cjc.ny.gov.

Statistics Relating to Prior Commission Decisions

The Commission has accepted 42 such stipulations since the procedure was instituted in 2003.

Since 1978, the Commission has issued 248 determinations of admonition against judges in New York State. The Commission has issued 304 determinations of censure and 167 determinations of removal.

The Court of Appeals has reviewed 93 Commission determinations. The Court accepted the Commission's sanctions in 77 cases (68 of which were removals, six were censures and three were admonitions). Of the remaining 16 cases, two sanctions were increased from censure to removal, and 13 were reduced: nine removal determinations were modified to censure, one removal was modified to admonition, two censures were modified to admonition, and one censure was rejected and the charges dismissed. The Court remitted one matter to the Commission for further proceedings. One request for review is pending.
